

Downtown Restaurants

This flyer includes restaurants located within a few blocks of the conference venue. These restaurants were chosen with breakfast or lunch in mind, so they are typically fairly fast even if most of them are not fast-food chains. If you choose a restaurant without seating, the garden next to the Art Institute at Jackson and Michigan is highly recommended, weather permitting.

If you are looking for more options, we suggest that you use the following:

- Open Table: <http://www.opentable.com/chicago-restaurants>
- Yelp: www.yelp.com/c/chicago/restaurants

Evening dining options are somewhat limited in the Loop. Recommendations include Russian Tea Time, The Gage, and Atwood. A longer walk or a short taxi ride can take you to the West Loop or the River North areas, where some of Chicago's best restaurants are located.

Recommendations in West Loop include Nellcote, Girl and the Goat, and The Publican. For River North, Frontera Grill, Sable, and Boho Bohemian House are some of many great options.

Thanks to Craig Miller for his help in putting this together. If you see him around the conference, be sure to ask for more dining ideas. He will not steer you wrong!
